RESULTS:Hair Comparisons:

Items Q1-Q9 were examined and compared to the known samples submitted. Q1 and Q2 consisted of two hairs with razor cut proximal ends. These hairs exhibit some similarities to both the known hair of Echols (K4) and Dodson (K7). These hairs could have originated from one of these individuals or another individual whose hair exhibits similar microscopic characteristics.

004507

Page 10-Examination of Physical Evidence, Case 01A-94HV00203

Q10 consisted of one hair exhibiting microscopic characteristics consistent with the known hair of Echols (K4). This hair could have originated from Mr. Echols or another individual whose hair exhibits similar microscopic characteristics.

The remaining Q hair samples were either dissimilar to the known hairs of the suspects or in this examiner's opinion lacked sufficient microscopic characteristics for an adequate comparison.

Fiber Comparisons:

Numerous fiber examinations and comparisons were conducted. Samples Q18-Q34 were examined for fibers. These fibers were removed for comparison with the known samples. The questioned fibers which were matched to the known fibers are as follows:

Q11 consisted of two black polyester fibers. One of these were flattened and identified by Criminalist Sakuvicus as having been done during her analysis. These polyester fibers were found to be consistent with the known polyester fibers in item K66.

Q12 was determined to be a blue polyester fiber and to be consistent with the known fibers in item K37.

Q13 was determined to be a green polyester fiber. The fiber had been partially flattened. The fiber was found to be consistent with the known fibers in item K79.

Q14 consisted of a red rayon fiber which had been partially flattened. The fiber was found to be consistent with the known fibers in item K42.

No comparisons were conducted on the cotton fibers found in items Q15-Q17.

Footwear Comparisons:

The plaster casts of the footwear impressions (Q35) and the impression in the soil (Q36) were consistent with having been made by a tennis-type shoe sole. In this examiner's opinion these impressions were not made by the submitted footwear (items K102-K111).

Q10 consisted of one hair exhibiting microscopic characteristics consistent with the known hair of Echols (K4). This hair could have originated from Mr. Echols or another individual whose hair exhibits similar microscopic characteristics.

The remaining Q hair samples were either dissimilar to the known hairs of the suspects or in this examiner's opinion lacked sufficient microscopic characteristics for an adequate comparison.

Fiber Comparisons:

Numerous fiber examinations and comparisons were conducted. Samples Q18-Q34 were examined for fibers. These fibers were removed for comparison with the known samples. The questioned fibers which were matched to the known fibers are as follows:

Q11 consisted of two black polyester fibers. One of these were flattened and identified by Criminalist Sakuvicus as having been done during her analysis. These polyester fibers were found to be consistent with the known polyester fibers in item K66.

Q12 was determined to be a blue polyester fiber and to be consistent with the known fibers in item K37.

Q13 was determined to be a green polyester fiber. The fiber had been partially flattened. The fiber was found to be consistent with the known fibers in item K22.

Q14 consisted of a red rayon fiber which had been partially flattened. The fiber was found to be consistent with the known fibers in item K42.

No comparisons were conducted on the cotton fibers found in items Q15-Q17.

Footwear Comparisons:

The plaster casts of the footwear impressions (Q35) and the impression in the soil (Q36) were consistent with having been made by a tennis-type shoe sole. In this examiner's opinion these impressions were not made by the submitted footwear (items K102-K111).

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT

Suspect(s):
Damien Wayne Echols
Jason Baldwin
Jessie Misskelley

Victim(s):
James Michael Moore

Date of Report: 01/17/94

The red shirt in MMI was constructed of red cotton fibers which were microscopically similar to the red cotton fibers recovered from E1, E3 and BR1. These fibers could have come from the red shirt in MMI.

It is pointed out that fibers do not possess a sufficient number of unique microscopic characteristics to be positively identified as having originated from a particular item to the exclusion of all other similar items.

The hair samples E152, E153, E154, E155, E156, E157, E158, E159, E160, E161, E162, E163 and E168 were compared to the questioned hairs in FP5 (93-05717) and FP8 (93-05718). The questioned hairs in FP5 (93-05717) were found to be microscopically similar to the hairs in E156. E156 cannot be excluded as a possible source for these hairs.

It is pointed out that hairs do not possess a sufficient number of unique microscopic characteristics to be positively identified as having originated from a particular item to the exclusion of all other similar items.

Examination of the cigarette butts in E177 revealed them to be consistent with Sherman's 164 - Hard Pack. The possibility that the cigarettes were hand rolled could not be eliminated.

Examination of the remainder of the items listed in this report was unremarkable.

RESULTS:*Hair Comparisons:

Items Q1-Q9 were examined and compared to the known samples submitted. Q1 and Q2 consisted of two hairs with razor cut proximal ends. These hairs exhibit some similarities to both the known hair of Echols (K4) and Dodson (K7). These hairs could have originated from one of these individuals or another individual whose hair exhibits similar microscopic characteristics.

Q10 consisted of one hair exhibiting microscopic characteristics consistent with the known hair of Echols (K4). This hair could have originated from Mr. Echols or another individual whose hair exhibits similar microscopic characteristics.

The remaining Q hair samples were either dissimilar to the known hairs of the suspects or in this examiner's opinion lacked sufficient microscopic characteristics for an adequate comparison.

Fiber Comparisons:

Numerous fiber examinations and comparisons were conducted. Samples Q18-Q34 were examined for fibers. These fibers were removed for comparison with the known samples. The questioned fibers which were matched to the known fibers are as follows:

Q11 consisted of two black polyester fibers. One of these were flattened and identified by Criminalist Sakuvicus as having been done during her analysis. These polyester fibers were found to be consistent with the known polyester fibers in item K66.

Q12 was determined to be a blue polyester fiber and to be consistent with the known fibers in item K37.

Q13 was determined to be a green polyester fiber. The fiber had been partially flattened. The fiber was found to be consistent with the known fibers in item K79.

Q14 consisted of a red rayon fiber which had been partially flattened. The fiber was found to be consistent with the known fibers in item K42.

No comparisons were conducted on the cotton fibers found in items Q15-Q17.

Footwear Comparisons:

The plaster casts of the footwear impressions (Q35) and the impression in the soil (Q36) were consistent with having been made by a tennis-type shoe sole. In this examiner's opinion these impressions were not made by the submitted footwear (items K102-K111).
